CHAPTER 1

Where am I?

I don't know where am I. I can hear music. It's Mozart. My head is hurting, I'm hungry and thirsty. I'm in a beautiful room. There's a pen and some paper on the table. I can't remember anything. I'm going to sleep. It's morning, I feel better. There is someone.

A man gave me water. I'm going to sleep. What time is it? I can hear music. I drink from the glass on the table. I'm going to... sleep... The man is asking questions. But I don't know anything. There's a gun in his hands... He wants me to drink from the glass again... I drink...

The room is dark...

CHAPTER 2

Questions

I feel better now. The man came in the room. He's asking questions. But I don't know who am I. I don't remember anything. He hits me. I can remember something...

Tomorrow I will remember more!

I was in a field, lying under a tree. I have binoculars in my hands. A man with a dog came. He hit me with the gun in his hands. Everything went dark.

CHAPTER 3

No more time

The next day, the man is asking questions again. But I still don't know who am I. He goes out. I remember again. I hear that the man is talking with a woman. Then she says to the man: - Two more days. We haven't got any more time.

It's evening. There are lights in the house. The car's going there. I can see two people. They have got a box.

They doesn't want me to know anything.

Chapter 4

Out of the locked room

They locked the door on me. I pushed the key out of the door. With some paper, I got the key. I'm opening the door quietly. There's a corridor. I'm going out. I enter a room full of paintings. They're beautiful and expensive. They're stolen. The man and woman are thieves. I found a telephone in another room. I call the police. They come.

Chapter 5

Who am I?

They found out that I escaped. The police came. The man and woman are talking to them. They don't want to tell the police about the paintings. 10 minutes later, they're in the police car. The policeman says:
- Well, Eddie, this is a surprise.

Eddie? Is that my name? Eddie Hampton. Am I a policeman?

- You are a criminal... a thief. You steal from houses.

But thank you for your help.
